Description

The Bachelor of Applied Science (BAS) program in Integrated Marketing and Communication prepares students for leadership roles in the rapidly evolving marketing and communication industry. Students will gain a deep understanding of the theoretical foundations and practical applications of marketing, advertising, public relations, digital media, and strategic communication. The program emphasizes the integration of multiple communication channels — such as digital media, social media, print, broadcast, and face-to-face communication — to create consistent, targeted messaging that resonates with customers and stakeholders.

Students will learn to craft persuasive marketing campaigns, develop brand strategies, and leverage data analytics to measure and improve marketing effectiveness. The program also provides a strong foundation in leadership, strategic planning, and project management, equipping graduates to lead teams, manage complex communication projects, and make informed decisions in a fast-paced business environment.

Preparation

This program is designed to allow a student to be admitted as either a transfer applicant or as a direct enrolled applicant. Refer to the Program Admission (p. 1) tab for additional admission requirements.

Students enrolling in the Integrated Marketing and Communication program may begin with Bismarck State College's Strategic Communication AAS, which stacks directly into the BAS degree for a seamless transition. Transfer applicants may also be admitted with an Associate in Applied Science, Associate in Arts, or Associate in Science degree from an accredited institution recognized by BSC. Previous college coursework, along with relevant industry experience and/or military training, may be considered to determine eligibility.

Requirements

Students should have an interest in communication, business, marketing, public relations, and working with people. Students who complete the curriculum requirements receive a Bachelor of Applied Science in Integrated Marketing and Communication.

Career Opportunities

Media and communication workers are up over 50%. This degree prepares graduates for careers as a marketing manager, public relations specialist, social media strategist, brand manager, advertising account executive, digital marketing specialist, media relations coordinator, or marketing communications director.

College Admission

Review BSC's How to Apply page and complete the college admission requirements.

Program Admission

The Bachelor of Applied Science in Integrated Marketing and Communication is designed for qualified students to be directly admitted. In addition to being admitted to BSC, students must meet program requirements based on their status:

First-Year Applicant

A student who has no prior postsecondary experience or who has earned less than 24 semester credits or 36 quarter credits. Students who earned college credits while still in high school are considered first-year applicants.
